FACTS WHAT DOES GLENDALE FEDERAL CREDIT UNION DO WITH YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION?

Why? Financial companies choose how they share your personal information. Federal law gives members the right to limit some but not all sharing. Federal law also requires us to tell you how we collect, share, and protect your personal information. Please read this notice carefully to understand what we do.

What? The types of personal information we collect and share depend on the product or service you have with us. This information can include:

- Name, address, telephone number, and email address
- Social Security number, assets, and income
- Account type, account balance, payment history, and account usage
- Credit history and credit score

How? All financial companies need to share personal information to run their everyday business. In the section below, we list the reasons financial companies can share their personal information; the reasons Glendale Federal Credit Union chooses to share; and whether you can limit this sharing.

Important: To complete the Online eStatement enrollment process, you will be required to review and accept all related Disclosure(s).

GLENDALE FEDERAL CREDIT UNION AGREEMENT TO RECEIVE COMMUNICATIONS ELECTRONICALLY

This Agreement to Receive Communications Electronically ("Agreement") addresses the circumstances under which you agree to receive, in electronic form, information that we are required by law to provide to you in writing (for example, Truth-in-Savings Act Disclosures) in connection with your accounts with Business Data Inc.

For the purposes of this Agreement, the words "you" and "your" means you, the primary account holder and all joint account holders. The words "we," "us," and "our" means Glendale Federal Credit Union.

I have read and understand the above disclosure(s).
